DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 9, 11 and 12 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lusty (US Patent 5,911,370).

The device of Lusty reads on the claimed invention including rotor (fig.15) comprising a horizontal upper disc and a horizontal lower disc, said discs being separated by at least two vertical wall segments defining between them an outflow opening for material leaving the rotor, said wall segments each having a first wall portion (1) being substantially tangential in relation to the rotor and being located adjacent to the periphery of the rotor and a second wall portion (4) being angled in relation to said first wall portion (fig. 15) and extending from the first wall portion into the rotor , wherein characterized in that said second wall portion comprises a straight first section (fig. 5) extending from the interior of the rotor towards the periphery of the rotor, said first section forming an obtuse first angle with said first wall portion (see marked copy fig. 15), and a second section connecting the first section and the first wall portion, said second section and said first wall portion forming a second angle (see marked copy fig. 15) being smaller than said first angle, said second section and said first wall portion forming at least one pocket for retaining material. Also, a second pocket is formed between the first and second section as seen in the figure 15 of Lusty. Further, the examiner takes the position that the first angle of Lusty is approximately  $130^\circ$  and the second angle of Lusty is approximately  $94^\circ$

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-5 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lusty.

In the event the applicant disagrees with the rejection above, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have the first and second angles of Lusty between the claimed ranges for the purpose of providing a bed support that will allow accumulated material to flow before exiting the rotor.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6-8 and 10 are finally allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 07/10/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue Lusty fails to teach the end of the second section contacts an end of the first wall portion and the second section is oriented in a radial direction. The examiner contends the second portion is "oriented" in a radial since it connects to the first wall portion at an angle. Lusty meets the claimed limitations. In response to applicants' argument that Lusty fails to meet the claimed second angle, the examiner disagrees. As seen in the marked copy Figure 15 of Lusty, the examiner second angle as indicated falls within the claimed range. Therefore, the examiner maintains Lusty meets the claimed limitation.

Applicants also argue that it would not have been obvious to modify the device of Lusty to meet the claimed angle of the second angle. It should be noted Lusty teaches in paragraph 1 and 2 of column 5, teaches the angle of tip 5 is altered relative to the material build up. Therefore, the examiner contends it would have been obvious to modify the device of Lusty to meet the claimed angle.

For the reasons set forth above, this Office Action is made Final.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
